Pitch of the Question.

It is not a contest of capital against capital. It is not a contest of partisan against partisan. It is much higher than either of these. It transcends all party notions. It is: Whether the great mass of American citizens who earn their bread by the sweat of their brows, shall be seriously reduced in their enjoyment from day to day.—JAMES G. BLAINE.

We Are Not Free Traders, Oh, No!

The Democratic party is a free trade party or it is nothing. The Democrat who is not a free trader should go elsewhere.—Henry Watterson.
"Add to the free trade list as many articles as possible. Reduce duties upon every dutiable article to the lowest point possible."—Secretary Fairchild.
"We venture to assert that England will reap the largest share of any advantages that may arise from the adoption of the free trade policy in the United States.—British History Review.

REPUBLICAN RALLY.

The Republicans of Woburn will hold their first grand rally of the campaign at Lyceum Hall next Monday evening, Oct. 22, and should the weather prove favorable it will be a rousing one.
Distinguished speakers have been secured by the committee for the occasion, included among them are: Hon. A. A. Wheelock, Hon. Mr. Greenhalge, Hon. E. D. Hayden, and M. T. Allen, Esq., Representative from this District to the General Court. Music will be furnished by the Woburn Brass Band.

An interesting feature of the rally will be an assembly on the platform of some 40 veterans who voted for "Tippecanoe and Tyler too" in 1840, and who expect to vote for Old Tippecanoe's grandson, Ben Harrison, in 1888. It will be a spectacle to be remembered.
The ladies are specially invited to honor the rally with their presence, and please take notice that the galleries are to be reserved for their sole occupation. It is hoped they will attend in large numbers.
The meeting promises to be one of the largest and most enthusiastic which has been held here for many years. The Republicans, all up and down the line, are wide awake and ready for a parade, will result in the election of Harrison and Morton on Nov. 6, next.

REPUBLICAN CAUCUS.

The Republicans of the city of Woburn are notified to meet at their headquarters, No. 434 Main street, on Wednesday evening next, at 8 o'clock, for the purpose of nominating candidates to represent the 14th Representative District in the Legislature of 1889, and transact any other business that may properly come before the caucus.
A full attendance is earnestly desired.

GENERAL BANKS'S ELECTION.

The election of the Republican candidate for Congress from the 5th District is of as much consequence to the country at large as to its constituents here at home for it may determine the complexion of the organization of the next House. At the best the Republicans will have no strength to spare in that body, but on the other hand will need all the members they can get. Where things are so evenly balanced numbers count.
General Banks would be a different man from Col. Higginson in the House. The former would stand up and contend for the success of all good Republican measures, while Col. Higginson would do just the opposite. Then, every Republican who thinks Republican doctrines preferable and better for the country than Democratic doctrines should work earnestly from this time to the 6th of November for the election of Gen. Banks and get as many of their neighbors to vote for him as possible.

REPUBLICAN CLUB MEETING.

The Harrison and Morton Club held what was intended at first to be a simply a business meeting at Headquarters last Wednesday evening, but before it ended they turned it into a love-feast and jubilee. Hon. E. D. Hayden was in his best trim and made a rattling good speech. Capt. Ed. F. Wier, Allen, and others followed, and a better or more enthusiastic rally hasn't been held here this campaign.

The Gen. Banks partisans in Cambridge and Somerville, which include the entire party in both cities, are thoroughly organized for work and are putting in big bids for the gallant old soldier. The best posted men in the District say Banks's majority will equal, if it does not exceed, Hayden's two years ago. He is safe, any way.

As Inspector of the State Board of Charities, etc., Mr. Frank Sanborn of Concord received his walking-papers last week without causing much grief in any quarter. The fact of the matter is he knows too much for common people. Nevertheless he found this Attorney General more than a match for him this time.

Col. Higginson, the Democratic candidate for Congress from this District, has opened a recruiting office for the colored vote in a room on Cambridge street which is located between a billiard hall and a rumshop right in the thickest of the negro population of Boston. That speaks well for Higginson, the poet and juvenile story-writer, don't it?

Henry Cabot Lodge has been re-nominated for Congress in the 6th District. It was done by acclamation and will be made very nearly unanimous at the polls on the 6th of the coming month. He will have the easiest kind of a walk-over.

The Democrats are playing their old game of bluff for all it is worth. But it won't win.

Free Mail Delivery.

Subscribers to the JOURNAL who wish their papers delivered by the carriers will please call at our office and arrange for the same.

—Pretty fair way for a Woburn Firm to advertise its specialty.

—Corner of Hanover and Blackstone streets, close to the Northern Depot.
—Last Monday night Abner Burrill was run over by a team and considerably hurt.
—Colored citizens of Woburn have organized a brass band and all the term implies.

—The residence of the Messrs. Tripp, under-tenants, No. 35 Green street. Don't forget it.

—Try Flanders's Tonic. It costs you nothing but your trouble, unless it proves satisfactory.

—The Boston Clothing Co.'s store is filled with the best of goods and business is booming.

—The free mail delivery begins to work with less friction than at first and people are liking it more and more.

—The trees are nearly stripped of their beautiful autumn foliage. Snow will come the winter of our discontent.

—A fine hook and ladder truck that is just built by Pollard & Parker for the fire department at Turner's Falls.

—Mr. George H. Conn, a well known native citizen, is confined to his house on Scott street by a severe illness.

—A few more advertising spaces left in the JOURNAL. It is a very good thing, however that neither Mr. Thomas Salmon nor Chairman Kenney can secure the nomination of any party much less of a candidate.

—We judge by the looks of his store that E. G. Clough has a large variety of useful household articles at low figures.

—They say Hon. A. A. Wheelock is a rattling campaign orator. He will be at Lyceum Hall Monday evening.

—Last Monday was the first all-day fair we have had here this fall—say, since last winter, as for that matter.

—After another rain, or the same old rain continued, the weather on Wednesday was rather more than fair for muddling.

—Read the card of Miss M. E. Richardson in this paper. The ladies will find her a skilled workman and worthy of patronage.

—Gentlemen can find at Stetson's several lines of fine cloth and high shoes suitable for the coming winter at $3.50 to $4 per pair.

—Mr. A. A. Clement of Central Square has just bought a lot of new Hampshire oysters which he will sell cheap. See card.

—The next "social" of the St. Charles C. T. A. S. will be held next Monday evening. An attractive programme has been prepared.

—At the last meeting of the St. Charles C. T. A. Society 35 persons took the pledge, a showing of which the society have reason to be justly proud.

—The society of Red Men attended the funeral of their comrade at North Woburn last Sunday in a body. The services were solemn and impressive.

—Ward 4 Democrats are going to have a flag raising on Thursday evening, Oct. 23. They pretend that they are preparing to have a rousing old time.

—A large number of young people from this town attended the ball given by Mystic Assembly K. of L. last Friday night in Lyceum Hall, Winchester.

—The highways have put in a good granite crossing over Main street nearly opposite the foot of Montvale Avenue. It was a needed improvement.

—We hope every voter in town who has been already voted for his name is duly inscribed on the Registry lists. It is a duty that ought not to be neglected.

—A large number of the live and awake members of the Woburn Harrison and Morton Club attended the great rally at Lexington a few nights ago.

—Gentlemen of Woburn and surrounding towns, please read Mr. C. M. Munroe's new advertisement in the JOURNAL this week. It is an interesting narrative.

—Aiken & Dutton opened a fish market on Main street opposite Union street yesterday, where they will keep all kinds of fish, oysters, etc., and sell at cheap prices.

—We should like to see our people give the Japanese Village a rousing good attendance during the remainder of their stay at Lyceum Hall. They are worthy of it.

—Remember that Diamond Ring that Manager Sweeney offers for the largest number of words made from Japanese Village. See the advertisement for particulars.

—It has been decided by the Celtic Association, one of the largest and most prosperous social clubs in this city, to give their annual entertainment on the evening before Thanksgiving.

—Mr. Fred Reid, who has been foreman at the Advertiser office for 4 years past, has accepted a situation on the Milford Journal and left this city for that town last Monday. He is a good printer.

—We never saw the Republicans of this city quite so lively as they are this fall. They are just plain full of animation and enthusiasm, the good fruits of which will be gathered at the polls.

—The amount of rain that has fallen during the last 10 days has been equal to that which usually falls in the course of all the 3 autumnal months. Such has been its extraordinary copiousness.

—A good many of the clean, intelligent Irishmen of this city will vote for Harrison and Morton on the 6th prox. They are not saying much about it but are keeping up a big thinking all the same.

—Mr. Gilman P. Jones offers for sale some very desirable real estate. All information concerning the property can be ascertained by calling on Mr. Jones at the Central House Stables office.

Every Republican of Woburn and vicinity should bear in mind the grand rally at Lyceum Hall next Monday evening, not fail to be on hand with his whole family early and often. It is to be a grand old time.

Miss Maggie Reddy is to be tendered a testimonial ball at the Cummings House, W. S., on Friday evening, Oct. 28. The arrangements are in the very best of hands. Calman's Orchestra will furnish the music.

On Monday, Nov. 5, cars on the North Woburn Street Railway from Symmes's Corner to Medford Square will be withdrawn and no more trips on the same will be run until next Spring. The public will do well to take notice.

The officers of the sewing circle recently organized by Scandinavian ladies of this city are: President, Mrs. Charles R. Rosenquist; Secretary, Mrs. Charles Ringquist. Tomorrow evening a public sale of wares manufactured by the circle will be held.

A motion for a new trial in the case, The People vs. Francis L. White, formerly of this city but a resident of Boston and a member of Congress, has been denied by the Supreme Court, and he is now awaiting sentence. He has been in jail a year and a half.

Y. W. C. T. U. Mrs. Rice, Superintendent of Juvenile Work, Massachusetts, will be here on Saturday, Oct. 27, at 3:00 o'clock, and organize a "Loyal Temperance Legion." All children who will join are requested to be at the Y. M. C. A. parlor, at the time mentioned.

There are to be 3 first-class Republican rallies here between this and election day. The first will occur on next Monday evening at Lyceum Hall, at 8 o'clock. The second will be at the Cummings House, E. D. Hayden, M. T. Allen, Esq., will speak, and Mr. Greenhalge is confidently expected.

Quite a party of gentlemen belonging to Mr. Horch Lodge, at Fox Mass, have been invited to the Woburn Lodge at Somerville. Among them were: William F. Davis, Charles M. Howe, Frank G. Richardson, William N. Titus, William H. Bowers, Alvin J. Foster, George E. Brown. Last week.

It is especially desirable that as many members of the Y. W. C. T. U. should attend the S. S. Convention at the Congregational Church next Sunday evening as possible. It is hoped that every one will bear this in mind. Rev. Dr. Gould will deliver an address, and that means a good deal.

Mr. Joshua Adams, one of the representative citizens of the beautiful seaport of Camden, Maine, was here yesterday visiting our esteemed neighbor Mr. Frederic Allen. We were glad to be introduced to Mr. Adams, for he is a typical Free Tree State gentleman, and that's our kind.

"The Medical Student" is a new monthly magazine published in Boston by an association of medical students and practitioners. Dr. H. Warren Johnson late of Woburn but now of Berlin, N. H., is the Managing Editor. It is a prosperous looking journal. Dr. Johnson has been visiting his home here this week.

The Japanese Village in Lyceum Hall, is particularly and especially a ladies entertainment, that is to say, the ladies all admire and patronize it. It is a very good thing, however that neither Mr. Thomas Salmon nor Chairman Kenney can secure the nomination of any party much less of a candidate.

Mr. Bryan Mcweeney, an ex-politician of this city, now foreman at E. Cummings and Co.'s factory, had the forefinger on his left hand so badly injured last Friday while at work that it is now useless. The finger of it had to be amputated. The muscles of the arm were so much drawn and lacerated that it will be some time before he will recover the use of it.

The Ladies Aid Society of the M. E. Church advertise in the JOURNAL to give an "Old Fashioned Supper" in the vestry and church porch on next Thursday evening, Oct. 25, which is a cordial invitation to all. The Methodist ladies know how to provide good things in the line of supper and they are anxious to do their best this time. Please read their card.

Flanders & Co., the druggists, are bound to be leaders in the coming season in Holiday Goods. They have the largest line of goods in Woburn, and they are all the latest designs imported from the largest manufacturers in the world. They are safely stored away until the season opens when at the very low prices asked for them they are all sure to go.

About 7 o'clock last Tuesday evening, while attempting to board a street car of the N. W. line at Central Square, Michael O'Brien, of North Woburn, was run over by a horse and cart, and his arm crushed. He was taken to the Massachusetts General Hospital where he died during the night. Michael was a cooper or contractor and was in fault for the accident.

There is a rumor in circulation in this city that another National Bank is to be organized and put into operation here between this and next Christmas. The capital is to be $500,000, a majority of which is to be taken by the owners of the Dow block, in which building will be the bank and home. It is said that the demand for the stock and the only trouble is there will not be enough of it to go around.

Last Tuesday Mr. and Mrs. Henry U. Dean left for California, in the southern part of which they will make their future home. A reception and banquet were given to them in G. A. Hall by the Relief Corps and a large number of warm personal friends. The occasion was a happy one, by a long remembered. Mr. and Mrs. Dean were followed on their departure for the new home by the best wishes of many friends and acquaintances.

This week men's week at the St. Charles Church, of the mission now being conducted by Fathers McDonald, Wallace, McTammany and Burns of the Jesuit Order. The attendance has been anything but large. Kind ever held in the church, hundreds being turned away every evening. They have been held on Main street and Union street, and have been prepared by them that will be confirmed on Monday evening next. The mission closes next Sunday night.

The annual concert and ball of the St. Charles Base Ball Club will be held in Lyceum Hall next Wednesday evening, and from present indications it will be not only largest numerically, but also the finest in regards dress and the social character of its attendance. Of any ball given this season (at the same evening the Club have arranged for the presentation of the different prizes by Tom Mierke, David E. McKim, and a man's Orchestra, with J. B. Thomas, prompter, will furnish music.

We look to see an interesting and valuable article in next Sunday's Boston Herald on the drainage, malarial diseases caused by insufficient sewerage, and matters connected therewith, of Woburn, Medford, Winchester and adjacent country, from the pen of member of the Herald staff who has spent several weeks in gathering data in the towns named and others for an elaborate article on the subject. Drainage is an important part of the suburbs of Boston, and one that demands early solution.

Not a great deal of business was transacted at the mid-monthly meeting of the Board of Selectmen, held last Tuesday evening. It was voted to hold the next meeting of the Board on Nov. 7, at 4:30 P. M.—T. G. Merriam petitioned to have the house of W. F. Downey transferred to the American Bottling Company (T. G. M.) referred to Police Committee. Notice of hearing before State Board of Health in relation to the subject of Metropolitan Drainage to be held on Tuesday, Oct. 25.

Gov. Ames and his Council have designated and set apart Thursday, Nov. 25, as a day for fasting, thanksgiving and praise in this State, and as such he counsels the people to observe it well.

—The Sheldon peers that graced the table of the senior Editor's boarding house the other evening were the largest, fairest and juiciest that he has seen this season. But alas! the table was so crowded that they read: "To Mrs. M. G. A. Hobbs with the compliments of Mr. M. B. Buchanan." That settled it, and what we found out about the quality of the peers was about equal to the knowledge gained of the quality of the elder by the man's smelling the pitcher. We are anxious, however to return thanks to Mr. Buchanan for the splendid pomological treat.

In a little country village not many miles from Woburn the Democrats ran out a party that the other evening. It appeared Union down, which was a sort of wet blanket on the very little enthusiasm in the small crowd of unfortunates present, and the Just then the leader stepped in front and announced that the audience would now be regulated with music by the band, at which a shrewd corner, 2 trombones, an ophicleide and snare drum struck up, with much flourish, "What a friend we have in Jesus," and finished the Democratic evening by singing in less than time it takes to tell about it.

Oliver Green & Co., lately good and respected citizens of Woburn, have a card in the JOURNAL this week which will be found worth reading. It seems to show plain to our comprehension that this prominent Boston pianoforte house have made up their minds to push the business, and that means the lowest prices for the most favorable terms. Mr. Joseph R. Green is a member of the firm and he means business.

It has been a bad week here for outside entertainments and yet the Japanese Village has been fairly patronized by our people. Many things of interest besides the Japanese have been going on. Square pianos will be kept in great numbers in the city at the new 576 Washington street, and sold at great bargains.

—The Journal is a great favorite with the farming community; more so this fall than ever before. They are perfectly satisfied with the bins, boxes and barrels at our home with fruits and vegetables from surrounding farms this season in the most expeditious manner. We are mighty glad to be so popular and on such good terms with the farmers. The latest donation was a barrel of lamb chops from Mr. John P. Stacey, who is the successful manager of Mr. Freeman Loring's big farm at Winchester near Loring & Avery's tannery, for which kind the Journal is indebted to him.

THE GREAT JUBILEE.

Last Friday's issue of the JOURNAL remarked that the Republicans of Woburn proposed to paint the town red that night. The expression was none too strong—red was the color and it was thickly laid on all over the city. It was the grandest jubilee and season of wild rejoicing that this place has witnessed for years and years.

The precise hour when the fun set in it would be hard to tell. The cheering began booming soon after night and they kept it up until everybody's ears were almost ruined by the noise. Quickly after this the marshes on gaily caparisoned steeds began prancing up and down the streets. Drum corps were soon marching from point to point and filling the city with the lively rat-a-tat-tats. At 8.30 the grand procession formed in front of Dow's block, and soon thereafter the march began.

The streets, the buildings, the trees and the heavens, all were ablaze with red lights, bonfires, roman candles, rockets, etc. Along the route of march a brilliant and beautiful scene presented itself. The procession, a long one composed of veterans and young veterans, carried torches, transparencies, banners, and flags. There was a broom brigade, cavalcade, and equestrians, as well as the ranks of footmen. The streets were never in a worse state of confusion than on that night. The march went right on just as though the ground was covered with Brussels carpets. Thousands of people lined the sides of the roads over which the procession passed and there were ringing cheers, yells and hurrahs from beginning to end.

After the march Music Hall was filled to overflowing with eager and pleased listeners to some eloquent speeches by several prominent Republicans who, with the crowd, were here and there running over with joy and gladness. The account of the grand and glorious Republican victory in the Nation and election of Gen. Ben Harrison. The speeches were cheered to the echo, enthusiasm ran away up into the 90s, everybody felt good natured and jolly. The meeting was a fitting wind-up of the great jubilee of victory.

Dr. Harlow's residence was splendidly illuminated. Mr. Alex Grant's presented a beautiful appearance with its triangle of Chinese lanterns, red light, etc. Mr. Chase Cole's was also finely illuminated. The store of Flanders & Co. was bright and brilliant with many colored blazes and bonbons. Other places looked gay. Dr. Reynolds's house on Church Avenue was lighted up from end to end with red light. Gas, candles and colored lights abounded inside and out. It presented a splendid appearance. The Doctor entertained in royal style too. His hard cider and gingerbread would make a king's mouth water. Mr. Harlow's residence of the happy, roistering Republican young and old, celebrated the Doctor's invitation for an hour's rejoicing at his hospitable home, and had a great time. It was an open house with a plenty of eat, drink, smoke and wear, and everybody enjoyed it.

This ended the grand jubilee—one of the jolliest times ever seen in Woburn.

FOR SPEAKER.
The Speakership contest is simplified by the election in one point through Mr. Barrett of Melrose. Mr. Barrett has 150 votes over Harrison 384 majority, a gain of 150 over 1884, while Mr. Barrett's friends, as an endorsement of his candidacy for Speaker, gave him a plurality of 454, running him 100 ahead of his ticket, though his opponent is a strong and popular man.—Boston Traveller.

Judging from the drift of things it is safe to conclude that the Old Bay State considerably more than an even chance of being Speaker of the next Massachusetts House of Representatives. As Editor-in-Chief of the Evening Record of Boston he contributed largely to the grand victory, which the Old Bay State won on the 6th, and besides that, he is a young man of brains, integrity and genuine worth. Mr. Barrett gained and maintained an honorable standing in the last Legislature, which will do much towards helping him into the Speaker's chair next January.

A COMPLIMENTARY DINNER.
On Thursday evening, Nov. 22, the Congressional Committee of the 8th District will give a complimentary dinner to General Nathaniel P. Banks, the successful candidate, at the Revere House, Boston. Invitations have been extended to Harrison and Morton, James G. Blaine, McGowan, Robinson, Senator Hoar, Gen. Butler, Rogers, Cabot, Lodge, and many other distinguished Republicans of the State and Nation.

There will be a reception in the parlors of the Revere from 4 to 5 P. M., and the dinner will take place at 6 P. M. The Committee is attached to the election of W. M. Tins, Esq., of Woburn, one of the winners, one of which the JOURNAL returns thanks for.

The Boston Journal begins to show signs of alarm lest Harrison may not, in the distribution of public patronage, make as big a blunder as Grover did. We have an idea that it will not take President Harrison many months to "turn the rascals out." He can be safely trusted not to repeat the folly that cost Cleveland his head.

Cleveland's administration ought to be credited with giving a service reform a well-merited black eye. For that he will be warmly praised and long held in grateful remembrance by all good men.

—A football tournament is to take place soon in which the clubs of Woburn, Winchester, Stoneham, Melrose, and Woburn will participate. The prize is to be a silver cup richly chased to be far-famed in the Woburn Journal.—Reading Chronicle.

—A tonic is as necessary in the fall as in the spring to put the system into good trim for winter, and there is nothing in the Dietary or medical code of the day that equals Flanders & Co. It is in great demand and its sales outstrip all other tonics. Call at the pharmacy of Flanders & Co. and try a bottle.

—The vote on Nov. 6, the previous registry, and the count of assessed polls being much larger than ever before, show that Woburn is going right straight ahead in population, as everybody knows.

—The No. Woburn Street Railway Company held their annual meeting for election of Directors at 35 Congress Street, Boston, last Wednesday with the following result: Amos B. Reed, Frank H. Jones, and Henry C. Parker, were elected.

—The Republicans talk of Col. Grammer considerably for Mayor, and it is nearly a certainty that Col. Grammer will be the candidate of the regular Democracy. We don't believe there is a man in the city who would make a stronger canvass than Col. Grammer. But the Republicans are all at sea, anyhow.

—CROCKERY. Thanksgiving will soon be here and our housekeepers will be replenishing their tables. At Morey, Churchill & Co.'s crockery store, 135 Friend Street, Boston, you will find crockery, knives and forks, carvers, dinner sets, tumblers and goblets, cake baskets and castors, and everything you need.

—Mr. N. J. Carey, formerly organist of the Unitarian church in this place, is meeting with much success with his illustrated lectures on Richard Wagner. Green & Co., No. 164 Tremont Street, to retain their salesrooms on Washington Street.

—Seen as much of the world as they have it is wonder to us that the officers of the Woburn Electric Light Co. will persist in showing the lights on the sides of the street instead of the middle of them. The fashion is out of date. To get the best results from most electric lights they must be swung up in the middle of the highways, as on Pleasant Street.

—The Friday Night Club have arranged a programme for the season, which includes addresses by Samuel W. Mendon, subject "Public Spirituality." Rev. M. J. Savage, "Laughter in Earnest." "Types of Nobility from the Writings of George Eliot," by Rev. Henry C. Parker. Albert Thompson is president. A. Wilbur Parker and Mr. Brackett, vice presidents, Harry B. Brackett, secretary and treasurer.

—The Democracy of this place got all ready for a big celebration of the election of Cleveland, but it never came off. Torches, red light, rockets, etc., were all engaged, the crowd of torch bearers, the speakers, the speeches, but alas, alas, the election went the other way, and our local Democrats were unhappy. But they have got over it, and are now ready to give the new "organ" will cheer them up still more.

—Supt. Farber of the Boston & Maine, B. & L. System, and all the rest, keep right up with the times and generally leads the procession in matters of improvement and invention for the safety and comfort of people travelling on his roads. Just now he is pushing changes in the rolling stock (per haps that isn't the exact phrase), in the locomotives, trains, cars, etc., necessary to heating the trains with steam from their boilers. He has just got 50 more cars ready for the steam fixtures, and will keep on until the whole system of roads of which he has the management is duly equipped in the same modern style. Supt. Farber's motto is: "The Car Must Go."

—Mr. Charles A. March, son of Rev. Dr. March, pastor of the First Congregational church in this city, who is an organist in the Pension Office at Washington, came on last week for a brief vacation. He made his headquarters with brother Doctor Daniel at Winchester, but spent a considerable part of his 4 days visit with friends in Woburn, which was once his home, and reporting for the JOURNAL, his occupation.

—Last week we received a letter from an old friend, Mr. P. J. Coffey, who is a respected member of the Woburn Police force, now a trooper in Co. G. 2nd U. S. Cavalry, stationed at Fort Wadsworth, N. Y. T. contained a lively and graphic sketch of a bear fight he and another trooper had recently passed through in which the bear, weighing 600 pounds, was killed. The story will be given in these columns at an early day.

—We learn from the Davenport, Iowa, papers that movements are already on foot for a series of postcard contests, to be held in Woburn, which was once his home, and reporting for the JOURNAL, his occupation.

—There is to be a heap of fun at Ranco & White's Billiard Parlors next Thursday evening. To pay an election bill, Ranco will have a half cord of wood, which must be done within 30 minutes according to the rules of the game, which will be given to the crowd. After the wood is all saved Dave must carry it in a wheelbarrow and pile it up in the cellar of the man who won the contest. The winner will be the man who will sweat most profusely. After these performances a match game of pool will be played, and a general good time enjoyed.

—Last Wednesday evening about 25 of the friends of Miss Myrtle Bell met at her home at the residence of her brother, Mr. L. P. Bell, No. 4 Winn Park, and made her a present of an elegant gold, hunter-green, ladies watch, on which was the inscription: "Presented to Myrtle Bell by her Woburn Friends." The presentation was made by Mr. Charles Westcott, who gave a humorous recitation (in verse form), which was properly responded to. A handsome collation was served, there was music, and a delightful evening was spent by all present.

—A fine instrumental concert was given in Concert Hall last Wednesday evening under the direction of Mr. F. H. Lewis, Principal of the Lewis Music School, who was assisted by Mr. Hermann H. Hartmann, violinist. The playing of solos by Mr. Lewis, and Mr. Hartmann's exercises on the violin gave great satisfaction to a large and critical audience, and every number on the programme was warmly applauded.

—A rich musical entertainment at Lyceum Hall, which there was a general expression of appreciation and pleasure. Mr. Lewis has others of the same high order of merit in store for our people, we have been informed.

—The Juvenile department of the Congregational Sunday School had a glorious time last Friday evening in the parlors and vestries of the church. About 160 of them came down to a fine supper that had been especially prepared for the interesting occasion and a merrier lot of little ones were never seen anywhere. It was a sight to see the children at the tables, and when they had finished the parents and guardians with a few friends of theirs were so pleasantly entertained by the children.

—And such a time! The affair was well managed by Mr. Lyford, the Superintendent of the Juvenile Department, and its successful conclusion was due to his excellent arrangements for the party.

—Messrs. B. A. & C. E. Tripp, were the undertakers at the funeral of Dr. Hiller in Wilmington last Sunday. The Globe had it that a famous Boston undertaker employed the body and experienced the funeral, whereas the gentlemen above named of this city should have the credit for doing all of it. In the execution of all concerned, it is said that the expenses of the funeral were not less than $15,000, exclusive of the casket, which was a great work of art. Hundreds of people from all over the city came to the funeral and a train load went through here from Boston. It was the most costly and magnificent affair of the kind that anybody ever saw in this part of the country.

—On Wednesday, the 21st, Messrs. Charles K. Conant and Frank P. Curran will issue the first number of the Woburn City Press, a 32-column Democratic weekly newspaper, published by the Woburn City Press, and printed by the Woburn City Press.

—The following named are the committee on the proposed new city hall, which they have bought a first class paper and jobbing outfit which will be set up in the Fox Building, owned by John Lyford, Esq., at 35 Congress Street, Boston, from the JOURNAL office. The City Press will doubtless prove a success from the start for this location for a Democratic paper is one of the best in the State. One of the long needed here, and with two good, fully equipped organs the local journalism field will be fairly complete.

—The following named are the committee on the proposed new city hall, which they have bought a first class paper and jobbing outfit which will be set up in the Fox Building, owned by John Lyford, Esq., at 35 Congress Street, Boston, from the JOURNAL office. The City Press will doubtless prove a success from the start for this location for a Democratic paper is one of the best in the State. One of the long needed here, and with two good, fully equipped organs the local journalism field will be fairly complete.

—Messrs. B. A. & C. E. Tripp, were the undertakers at the funeral of Dr. Hiller in Wilmington last Sunday. The Globe had it that a famous Boston undertaker employed the body and experienced the funeral, whereas the gentlemen above named of this city should have the credit for doing all of it. In the execution of all concerned, it is said that the expenses of the funeral were not less than $15,000, exclusive of the casket, which was a great work of art. Hundreds of people from all over the city came to the funeral and a train load went through here from Boston. It was the most costly and magnificent affair of the kind that anybody ever saw in this part of the country.

Meeting of Selectmen.

The Board of Selectmen held a special meeting on last Monday evening at their rooms. All the members were present. Chairman Kenney presided, and Clerk Ferguson reported the record of the day.

On the petition of Thomas H. Hill to have the votes for Representatives for the Middlesex District recounted, it was voted to hold a meeting in the Board's Rooms on Tuesday evening, Nov. 16, at 7 o'clock, and recount said votes as prayed for.

Woman's Column.

At a house where they do a great deal of fancy work and keep a white powder, an innocent gentleman asked, "Who knit the dog?"

The Maine Legislature has appropriated $30,000 to establish separate classes for women scholars and painters to study from live models under the auspices of the Art Academy of Copenhagen.

A law was passed last May providing for the appointment of eight police matrons in Brooklyn, N. Y., who should have charge of the female prisoners in the city limits; but the matrons are not yet appointed.

Following the example of England and Norway, Italy has abolished the State regulation of vice; and the same system in the military camps in India has just been put a stop to by a circular from the English government there.

"The Prevention of Prostitution" was the theme of an able and suggestive paper, presented by Dr. Rebecca C. Hall, at the thirtieth annual meeting of the Alumni Association of the Woman's Medical College of Pennsylvania.

Miss Leitch, President of the Ceylon Y. W. C. F., has forwarded to the World's W. C. F. a petition of 250 signatures; those are from Tamil, Sinhalese, English, Bengali, Marathi, Gujarati, Santals, and Hindustani men and women of the Island of Ceylon.

Mrs. Maria Bateman, of the Boston W. C. F. U., is a regular visitor among the women imprisoned at the Tombs, every Sunday afternoon. This lady has also extended her benevolent attention to the court-room, in behalf of the unfortunate, and has been cordially welcomed by the presiding judge.

Thursday, August 2, was the nineteenth anniversary of the passage of the bill securing universal suffrage to women in England. The day was celebrated by the fact that the same right was extended to the women of the Island of Ceylon.

Miss Agnes Frances Ramsay, who last year achieved the highest academical distinction within reach of female students, having been "Senior Classic" in the Classical Tripos of the University of Cambridge, was married on Aug. 2, to Dr. Henry Montague Butler, Master of Trinity College, Cambridge, England.

Dr. Butler is a brother-in-law of Mrs. Josephine E. Butler.

Dr. George Valcott and three other American women physicians, who lately distinguished honor of an invitation by Professor Biliotti, of Vienna, to attend the medical clinic for women, and witness his own operations. The next day he took them to his private museum where they saw some of the results of his surgical triumphs. Professor Biliotti is at the head of continental surgeons, and has years ago led the opposition to the admission of women to the medical schools. The three American women doctors were invited by Dr. Biliotti to his own clinic and to his private museum, where they saw some of the results of his surgical triumphs.

The fact shows the growth of public sentiment.

Mr. W. H. Morgan, merchant, Lake City, Fla., was taken with a severe cold, attended with a distressing cough, and finally into Consumption in its first stages. He tried many so-called popular cough remedies and steadily grew worse. Was in flesh, had difficulty in breathing and was unable to sleep. Finally tried Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and found immediate relief, and after using about a half dozen bottles found himself well and had no return of the disease. No other remedy can show so grand a record of cures as Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. Guaranteed to do just what is claimed for it. Trial bottle free at H. L. Flanders & Co.'s Drug Store.

A subscription paper for some religious object was passed to a zealous church member in town recently, when he remarked, "Well, can you give $5 and feel it?" "Then," said the collector, give $10 and feel it. The point was soon at once, and then said, "I am well."

The Excitement Not Over.

The rash and C. H. Buss's still continues, and daily scores of people call for a bottle of Kemp's Balsam for the throat and lung for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis and Consumption. Kemp's Balsam, the standard family remedy, is sold on a guarantee and never fails to give entire satisfaction. Price, 50c. and $1.00. Trial size, free.

A train on the Florida Southern Railroad a few nights ago struck a black object which the engineer at first thought was a man, but on stopping the train it proved to be an alligator twelve feet long. The animal had been severely from its body.

HAWAIIAN ISLANDS' LEPROSY.

The Only Hope of the Native Race—The Lepers' Colony.

It is now more than half a century since leprosy was introduced into the Hawaiian Islands. It would be quite impossible to point with certainty to the original case, but it is generally understood that the seed of the dreadful malady came from Asia, and was conveyed to the person of an ill-fated foreigner. He may or may not have been aware of the incalculable injury he was about to inflict upon a nation that had been, until the arrival of Capt. Cook, in 1790, almost entirely free from the numerous contagious diseases that prevail among civilized communities; but the life he led in Hawaii was such as to speedily communicate this mortal disease, and it was not long before its unmistakable symptoms were developing in every quarter of the kingdom. Leprosy develops slowly, and may be a fever for months or even years before the symptoms of the disease become to discover themselves and at last become externally evident. Then they are unmistakable, but by this time great mischief may have been done, and hence innocently enough, perhaps, the leper will have been recently become contagious. Thus, the progress of the disease through the kingdom, and spread to such an alarming degree that it became necessary to take public action in the matter. The disease is acknowledged by the medical world to be incurable. It has ever been so considered; and as yet, though a thousand experiments have been tried, the most hopeful of the scientists have abandoned the field in despair. The Mosaic law was explicit in regard to the treatment of those afflicted by leprosy: they were to be set apart, without the camp, and to dwell alone, crying, "Unclean, unclean!" Their garments were to be burned, their houses cleansed, and all direct communication between the leper and the unclean was expressly prohibited. In like manner, segregation was considered to be the only hope of the Hawaiian race. A suitable spot was sought to which the lepers might be removed, where they might be tenderly cared for and jealously guarded, and there they were to end their miserable days. The prospect of life banishment under the strictest laws, however, did not deter the natives from the disease; and the hale, they were not, and they still are not, afraid of the disease. They are a most affectionate people; they love their friends with a love passing the love of woman; moreover, they are a people of death—at heart they are fatalists. When the health agent of the government went forth in search of the afflicted, hoping to gather them together, house by house, and to set them apart, they were not so soon won to the government agency, he found great difficulty in securing any of them. At the approach of this health agent, the lepers were gathered by friends, who were willing to brave possible contagion rather than part with those so dear to them. Sometimes the unfortunates were surprised and given to the land, and the police, who were to have charge of them until they could be shipped to the new settlement. Eye witnesses of the heart-rending scenes that followed the coming of the health agent, the voice of the government could justly say, "We have tried."

It was a question of saving the remnant of the nation at the price of the hopeless few. The little lowland at our feet was, by its very odds, the most desirable locality in the whole group for a settlement such as was proposed.

There are few white people on the island of Molokai. This lowland was, perhaps never, visited by a white man, and there was no necessity of its being visited by those who were not concerned in the welfare of the natives. There was ample room for the lepers, and the land was fertile and healthy, and the climate was good. The lepers were living among the forest trees, and the husbandman would find an immediate market for his produce, and he was as fearless and hospitable as the natives. Indeed, all things considered, better refuge for the leper could be found; and so the little lowland under the great shadow of the mountain was, in the eyes of the government, a most desirable locality for a settlement such as was proposed.

THE CITY ELECTION.

The Woburn city election will be held on Dec. 4th—one week from next Tuesday. All sides are making preparations for it and within a few days the candidates will occupy the field. It need not be insisted on by us that the coming election is to be a very important one for the people of Woburn. It being the first under a city charter, ability and integrity will be required to organize the new government and to establish on a good foundation the new order of things. Only the best citizens we have among us should be chosen for the official incumbents.

The names of quite a number of gentlemen prominent in business and social circles have been mentioned for the office of Mayor. Among them that of Hon. John Cummings stands conspicuous. Many citizens of all parties would like to see Mr. Cummings at the head of our new government for many reasons and would gladly support him for it. Some of his most intimate friends, however, say he would not accept a nomination. Others frequently and favorably mentioned for Mayor have been Col. W. T. Grammer, Mr. James Skinner, Clerk John Ferguson of the Board, Mr. W. C. Kenney, Chairman of the same, Mr. E. E. Thompson, Capt. J. E. Weyer, Dr. John M. Hawley, Hon. E. W. Hudson, B. F. Kimball, Town Treasurer E. P. Johnson, and others, any one of whom in the opinion of the JOURNAL, would make a good Mayor.

The Democratic City Committee have held two meetings for the purpose, as was announced, of nominating a candidate for Mayor but at neither was that done. A considerable share of the party do not believe that the City Committee have the necessary power or authority to make the nomination; a few contend they have; and this has produced wrangling in the party.

It is reported that Mr. Thomas Salmon will not be a candidate, which leaves the field clearer by one for some other Democrat who wants in addition to the head of the new government.

The Republicans do not seem to have settled down on any particular person for their candidate for Mayor, which may perhaps be accounted for in part by a disposition shown by many of them to wait and see what measures, if any, will be taken towards presenting a non-partisan campaign for city officers. It is the belief of many who oppose any of the candidates that to draw party make a party out of candidates for city officers is unwise and foolish at this stage of the game, and this opinion is shared not only by leading Republicans but by Democrats of influence and standing in the party.

Just what the Republicans have decided to do we are unable to say. They may make partisan nominations and fight it out on that line; or the majority may decide in favor of a non-partisan citizens movement. Whatever it may be the JOURNAL will endeavor to follow the wheel and do all it can towards helping to elect the best men in the race for the offices.

REPUBLICAN WARD CAUCUSES.

The Republicans of Woburn have been notified to assemble in caucuses in their respective wards this evening, Nov. 23, at 7:30 o'clock, for the purpose of making nominations of candidates for city officers. The places for holding said caucuses have been fixed as follows:

- Ward One—Court Room in Municipal Building.
 - Ward Two—Old Misquavum Club Room, Fox Building.
 - Ward Three—Republican Headquarters, Front Hall.
 - Ward Four—Republican Headquarters, Rear Hall.
 - Ward Five—Hose Co. 4 House.
 - Ward Six—Hose Co. 2 House.
 - Ward Seven—Hose Co. 3 House.
- It is the earnest wish of all concerned that the several meetings be fully attended. Important responsibilities rest on the shoulders of the Republicans of this city and the first step towards their proper discharge is to attend and participate in the primaries.

The Baptist Sunday School will give their Harvest Concert on Sabbath evening. There will be specially prepared music and interesting literary exercises.

A large number of young people from this town attended the ball of the Winchester C. T. A. Society held in the Town Hall, Winchester, last Friday evening.

Thanksgiving Day will arrive next Thursday if nothing happens. We hope the weather will be fine, and that every family will have the eating of a fat turkey and trimmings.

The Celtic Association will give their annual ball in Lyceum Hall on Thanksgiving Eve and on Thanksgiving afternoon the Hubert Associates will give a sunlight hop in Music Hall.

Mr. Robinson, the market-man in Dow's Block, has his Thanksgiving change of advertisement in this paper. There are not a great many words in it, but it is plain full of meaning.

The JOURNAL is very much crowded with advertisements this week. This condition of things will not last long, but while it continues we crave the patience and forbearance of our readers.

Mrs. A. J. Haynes sent the JOURNAL some splendid poems the other day and thus cheered and satisfied its heart. How true the words of the poet are: "the lame and the lazy are always provided for."

Mr. John P. Delaney has notified the Democratic City Committee that he respectfully but peremptorily declines to be a candidate for member of the School Board for which he was nominated at the first meeting of the Committee.

Woburn teachers will please bear in mind that the 44th annual meeting of the Mass. Teachers Association will be held in the Girls High School Building on West Newton street, Boston, on Nov. 30, instant, and Dec. 1, proximo.

On Thursday evening, Dec. 6, the Ladies connected with the United Order of Pigeon Fathers will hold a Leap Year Party at their hall in the new Bank Block, Pleasant street, the party to be given after the close of the session of the Colony.

China. The largest salesroom in the Eastern states in the crockery and lamp trade is that of Morey, Churchill & Morey, 155 Friend street, Boston. The space is immense and still it is crowded with novel and useful articles from all countries.

The youngest city in Massachusetts is about to close her first mayor. Woburn is a reliable Democratic city, and will of course stand with Boston in choosing a Democratic chief magistrate.—Boston Globe. "She thought, and then again she thought."

Clerk John Ferguson says the story about a "trade" between him and five or six leading Democrats concerning the Majority and the distribution of the places on the police force, is false from beginning to end. He says there never was the least foundation for such a yarn.

About the date of the first appearance of the City Herald, the new Democratic daily here, the Intelligent Composer and his Associate in Crime, the Proof Reader, beat us just a week in our last issue. Instead of Nov. 22 it should have been 23 days before Thanksgiving—in our notice of said first appearance.

The Appalachian Mountain Club yesterday made an excursion to Horn Pond Mount, in Winchester, Mass. The party, led by the Club's Secretary, Mr. C. W. Crocker, consisted of about 150 persons. The trip was a very successful one, and the party returned at 4 P. M.

Mr. S. Frankfort Trull declines to be a candidate for re-election as a member of the School Committee and has so notified the Democratic City Committee. He was nominated by whom he was unanimously re-nominated at a meeting held last week. Mr. Trull has given the Board four years of good faithful service and also declines a re-election.

The Town of Pullman, Illinois, is located about the same distance from Chicago that Woburn is from Boston, and Mr. Edward F. Bryant, Secretary of the Pullman Loan and Savings Bank, which is similar to the custom of Cashiers of Suburban Banks, who go daily to Boston on business for the banks they represent.

Clan McKinnon of Scotchmen gave their annual ball and banquet at Lyceum Hall last Tuesday evening. It was a grand affair attended by a large number of the prominent citizens. The music which was furnished by the orchestra was fine. Baggies, etc., furnished street music before the exercises at the hall began. Scotch citizens made a great success of their annual good time.

Speaking of the great reception given to Rev. Dr. March at the Congregational church last Wednesday afternoon, the Standard Star says: "The Reverend Gentleman is the brother of our respected doctor, Daniel March." That is news in this locality. We have always thought up there that Daniel March, D. D. is the father of Daniel March, M. D. Perhaps the Star knows more about it than both the Doctors do.

The members of the chorus choir of the First Congregational church are preparing to give their first concert in the church on the evening of Dec. 10, under the direction of the organist. The numbers on the program will be of an interesting character, and not from the repertoire of sacred music, but will be in contrast to the devotional selections so heartily rendered by them in the Sunday services.

Mr. Charles E. Canant of this city died on Oct. 18. At the time he was a member of Misquavum Lodge, A. O. U. W. The assessments against him for the time he had been a member, which amounted to $13, for which, on Nov. 5, or 18 days after his death, his widow was paid by the lodge. Such a prompt attention to business is commendable and deserves favorable notice.

Messrs. Martin Ellis & Co. have a new card in the JOURNAL this week to which attention is directed. For many years Mr. Martin Ellis and parties connected with him have done a large business at building modern and kindred employments, their field of operations not being confined to this town, neighborhood, county or State. They go all around the country and the services of the firm are in good demand.

Good progress has been made on the improvements on the interior of the St. Charles church which is being enlarged in the lower hall or basement. The partition was taken down and the room to be extended back towards the rear of the building, a distance of 28 feet. It is also contemplated by the pastor to make two more doors opening directly into the street from the side aisles instead of having one door in the centre for all, as heretofore.

The reception given to Rev. Dr. March a week ago last night, and the subsequent congratulatory meeting was a famous affair. It was a terribly stormy night but that didn't deter several hundred people from going out and joining in the exercises of the occasion. Everything passed off in good shape and the meeting was very interesting. Last Sunday evening a large audience gathered at the church to listen to a discourse on "The Common People of the Far East," and were richly rewarded for their pains.

The Democratic City Committee met last week for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Mayor and other officers but finding they had put their foot in it they only selected candidates for School Committee, which, except in the case of Mr. Haggerty and Mr. John P. Delaney, were members of the present Board. Mrs. Haggerty has been a successful and popular teacher in our public schools, and Mr. Delaney is a bright, clean, well educated young man, a native of Waltham, but for some years a resident of this place. He is, we believe, a brother-in-law of City Collector and Lawyer John G. Maguire.

After Dec. 1, Mr. Clarke, Organist, will require those in Woburn who have applied to him for thorough private instruction in Vocal and Instrumental Music and the art of Reading Music at Sight, on Mondays, Fridays and Saturdays, also Monday and Friday evenings, at Room No. 9, Savings Bank Building.

Although the weather was just as bad as it well could be the entertainment and supper given by the Unitarians at the Chapel was very well attended and a little money was made by them. The success of the affair was largely due to the exertions of Mrs. Watson of the Committee of arrangements.

—The G. A. R. Fair, or Winter Garden, at Carter's Hall, has been a grand success so far. It opened on Tuesday evening, since when the attendance and business have been excellent. This, Friday, is to be the Firemen's Night when the difference between the names of the city will visit the Fair in uniform and prove a great attraction. The Garden will close tomorrow evening and if all of our citizens have failed to visit it, it will be a pity. The Fair is a most interesting one and should be visited by all. The G. A. R. boys will make a good thing out of the Fair, and everybody will be glad of it, for nobody is more deserving of good things at the hands of the people than the Veterans.

The last meeting of the Women's Club was held in Concert Hall, Nov. 16th. Lucy Larcom, the well known writer, read a lecture on "Girlhood and Womanhood" in poetry. The position given to women in literature and in life was the subject of the lecture. The classic writers Virgil and Homer through the Middle Ages, the time of Petrarch and Dante, down to the early English period of Chaucer and Spenser, then on to the Elizabethan period of literature, that of Shakespeare. The conclusion was devoted to more modern writers. Cooper, Wordsworth and Keats. The lecture was copiously illustrated with pictures from each of the periods treated. Meeting called to order by Miss Helen Frost. The subject was "Social and Moral Life in Russia."

The question of license or prohibition is to be voted on at the next city election. It is reported that the rumormongers will either vote for prohibition or not vote at all and let the matter go by default. If licensed should carry only 11 persons could have licenses to sell according to the law passed last winter and these would have to pay not less than $1000 for each permit. The number who want to follow rumormongers as a business greatly exceed the legal limit, which fact, taken in connection with the price of the license, leads to the conclusion that it will be a great deal better for their side to let the city go for prohibition, all sell who want to, and all take their chances on the issue, than to have license under such restrictions. This statement shows the great importance of having a first-class police force appointed by the Mayor.

Last Saturday two Pleasant street lads aged 16 and 13 respectively were firing a toy cannon on the grounds in the rear of the Public Library when one of their shots came near proving serious if not fatal. It seems the boys fired balls in their pieces, one of which went through a large side pane of glass in a bay window of the residence of Mr. George F. Fodick on Abbot street. The youngest daughter of Mr. Fodick sat in the bay-window and the path of the ball was within a few inches of her head. It was a narrow escape, for had the girl sat less than a foot farther towards the front of the window she must have been hit by the ball and probably killed. The ball was subsequently found near the fire-place of the room it entered. Mr. Fodick's family were very much frightened, but no more so than the boys, who will probably be more careful in the future when playing with their guns.

The utmost care should be exercised in selecting a candidate for Mayor of this city. He should be a man who has personal interests at stake and therefore wants a good, clean, able city government. He should be a man of sound judgment, of acknowledged ability, of practical common sense, upright, independent, fearless in the discharge of duty, firm, yet cautious and obliging, cool-headed, of business fair experience, free from all class and individualities, and having for his chief aim the greatest good to the greatest number. He should be a man who will have no friends to reward or enemies to punish; who will give all sides a fair hearing; who will decide questions on their merits rather than with a view of pleasing this or that man or clique; who will give his best powers and all the time necessary for the promotion of good local government and the best interests of the city. We had such men among us, and from such the first Mayor of this city should be selected.

Indicating its Character. We have already referred to the fact that on the day following the late election, the Boston Globe printed and sold 441,738 copies. Later came the announcement from the Boston Herald that its sales on the same day aggregated 41,738. This brought out an interesting reference from the Globe, in which it stated that the Boston Herald's circulation was 41,738 copies, and that it was the only paper in the city which had a circulation of 41,738 copies. This was a most interesting fact, and it was a most interesting fact that the Boston Herald's circulation was 41,738 copies, and that it was the only paper in the city which had a circulation of 41,738 copies.

In the name of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, you are required forthwith to notify and warn the inhabitants of the Town of Woburn, to assemble at the Court House, in said town, on the fourth day of December, 1888, at seven o'clock in the afternoon, and there to give in their ballots for the following city officers, viz:

A Mayor to be chosen from and by the qualified voters of the city at large voting in their respective wards; also, one Alderman and two Common Councilmen, to be chosen from and by the qualified voters of said city; also, nine persons to be members of the School Committee, to be chosen from and by the qualified voters of the city at large, voting in their respective wards, three for the term of three years; three for the term of two years; three for the term of one year; also, to give in their votes "Yes" or "No" in answer to the question, "Shall licenses be granted for the sale of intoxicating liquors in this city?" all on one ballot; also, the women qualified to vote, to give in their votes, in their respective wards, on a separate ballot for School Committee only.

The Polls shall be opened at seven o'clock, A. M., and shall be closed at four o'clock, P. M. And you are directed to serve this Warrant by posting up an attested copy thereof at the place appointed for Ward meetings in said Ward and at each of the Government Post-Offices in town, and published in the Woburn Advertiser and Woburn Journal, seven days at least before the time of said meeting.

Hereof full not and make due return of this Warrant, with your doings thereon, to the Town Clerk of said Town of Woburn, before the time appointed for said meeting.

Given under our hands and the seal of the Town of Woburn, this 20th day of November, A. D. one thousand eight hundred and eighty-eight.

FOR MAYOR—EDWARD F. JOHNSON.

The Republican convention on Tuesday evening nominated for Mayor Edward F. Johnson, Esq.

Mr. Johnson has been our candidate from the first, because we have seen that he possesses all the qualifications required for Woburn's first Mayor. He is a man in the vigorous prime of life. He is not so youthful as he looks, and is in fact older than was Mayor Russell of Cambridge at the time of his first election. Mr. Johnson is a lawyer by profession, and the city will have in him a Magistrate able to interpret intelligently the novel provisions of our city charter and to establish precedents for its constructions. He is a man of business talents and successful business training, as he has shown by the way he has conducted the Treasurer's office for the past two years. He is a representative of all Woburn families. This will itself be an especial qualification, but it pleases many to have a live representative of the early settlers for first Mayor, and Mr. Johnson is a direct descendant in the ninth generation of Edward Johnson, an original settler of the town, its first Town Clerk, and Chairman of the first Board of Selectmen.

He is social, approachable, and a good fellow. His experience as Clerk of the District Court, for six years, fits him to deal intelligently with all matters pertaining to Police affairs; and that portion of the Town's By-laws defining and dealing with offenses was drafted by him. He has character, ability, integrity and worth. He has never failed to fill a position with honor to himself and has always justified the faith of his friends. He can be elected. In the two times he has appeared before the people for office his popularity has been demonstrated by the size of his majorities and Tuesday's election will prove him to be not merely the candidate of a party, but will prove that he is also a candidate of the people.

ABOUT THE DEMOCRATS.

The Democrats of this city are not getting on very well together. That is apt to be the case with any party that happens to be in the majority. Where there is a show for election there will always be found quarrelling, fighting, and all sorts of pull-hauling. We fear the local Democrats are in a bad way and that it will take more than "corgon" to save them from total disintegration.

They have already, by their City Committee, held two meetings for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Mayor. Neither of them worked smoothly. The first, after seeing what a strong opposition it had stirred up, went into executive sessions and nobody could tell what they did because they deliberated in secret. A second meeting on last Monday week resulted in more satisfactory than the first and nothing was accomplished. Since then the leaders have had but little to say about the elections. The Democracy have had on the tapis rather more candidates than caucuses. At an early stage in the proceedings, Chairman Kenney of the Board of Selectmen was more prominent than any other. The Yankee Democrats favored the nomination of Mr. James Skinner. By and by Mr. Thomas Salmon appeared at the front and took the proceedings in a short time. He was followed by Clerk John Ferguson. Last week the whole party, pretty much, were in favor of Mr. Ferguson's nomination. But at the meeting Monday evening Mr. Leonard Thompson's star was in the ascendant and he would have been chosen as the standard-bearer of the party had not the meeting received the positive refusal of Mr. Thompson to accept the honor. Who they will pitch on at last no man can guess.

They have nominated Mr. Salmon. A GOOD TICKET AND A STRONG ONE.

The Republicans have made up their ticket for city officers and in character and ability we are unable to discover any point in it which would lead to improvement. It is singularly free from poor pieces of timber, and remarkable considering the large number of names, in personal worth, individual ability, and freedom from dirt. Elsewhere we submit our opinion of the character and fitness of Mr. Johnson, the candidate for Mayor, for that post of honor. The opinion is universally shared by our citizens. We like his platform. In accepting the nomination Mr. Johnson said that he had no promise to make—and that was the only promise of any kind that he should make to any body—which was that, if elected, he would to the extent of his ability perform his duties honestly, conscientiously, faithfully and to the interest of the whole City of Woburn. No reasonable person would ask more of a candidate.

The candidates presented by the Republicans for Aldermen and Common Councilmen are exceptionally clean and clever. It would be impossible to select a better set of men for the places from the 3000 or more voters in the city.

The School Board nominees could not be improved upon in any particular. The ticket is a strong one; let us elect it next Tuesday, quick and clean.

OUR CHARTER ELECTION.

The Woburn city election will be held on next Tuesday. For the offices to be filled and other particulars the reader is referred to the warrants published in the Journal at this week.

This is to be our first election under a city charter, a fact that ought to be considered by every voter who has the good of his home at heart. To give us a fair showing among other cities in this Commonwealth we must begin right, and to begin right will be to elect a man for Mayor who will do credit to the office, and Aldermen and common Councilmen of good standing, intelligence and high character.

All political preferences and prejudices ought to be cast on one side that the public good may be promoted, and personal likes and dislikes made to yield to the same demand.

If the voters of Woburn will only act conscientiously next Tuesday and do what they know to be for the general good, drop partisan feelings and vote only for the best men regardless of sect, creed, or trade—if they will all go to their polling places with the full determination of doing just these things in this way—then our first city government will compare favorably with the best of them, and be something that all of us can point to with feelings of pride.

NOBLE REQUESTS.

In another place in our columns we print today the contents of the will of Ruth Maria Leathe who died in this city in 1887. It will be seen that she gave generously to her native town and its institutions, not forgetting worthy objects of charity beyond its bounds. The Woburn Home for Aged Women has from its establishment been dear to her heart, and in her will she has endowed it handsomely. She was chief in founding the Home and has contributed liberally to sustain it from the beginning. Likewise, Miss Leathe has always had a warm place in her affections for the Young Men's Christian Association, and the Woburn Association she has well provided for. The Main street property which is bequeathed to Mr. Hubbard Chapin, President of the Woburn Y. M. C. A., in trust for the society, is worth little less than $10,000. And as with these, so with her church, missionary societies, and other worthy objects, the deceased demonstrated by the terms of her will her strong and lively interest in them all.

The account of Miss Leathe's gifts which we print to-day will be read with much interest by this community where almost everybody knew and respected her.

THE SCHOOL BOARD.

In changing our local form of government from that of a town to a city the present incumbents of offices will be thrown out of their positions and a new deal all around is, of course, the order of things. With the rest of the town School Board will be swept away and at the first city election, on Dec. 4, a full new Board will be elected. That is one of the most important duties the voters will be called upon to perform.

Wise as we think, the Democrats have nominated the present Board, with few exceptions. The Republicans have done substantially the same thing. It was proper they should. The office is strictly non-political, and it is generally admitted, we believe, that the present incumbents have managed our educational interests with ability and for the general good. They give us their services without pay but they are none the less valuable on that account. Mr. Trull is an old member of the Board, and has held that office for Mr. Kenney, Mr. Aldrich, and others, and they have proved themselves efficient public servants—indeed, the entire Committee are true friends to our public schools and have done well for their advancement.

"YES" OR "NO."

We are told that, under the present law, there will be practical prohibition in this city the coming year. Twelve votes may be on the subject. Twelve licenses at not less than $100 for each permit to sell intoxicating drinks comes pretty near, it must be allowed, to prohibition, but not quite up to it. It would be a great deal better not to license the selling of rum at all. It would be better for the town, and better for those in the city.

And then "no license" in Woburn would sound well abroad and look well in the papers. It would help along the city's growth wonderfully, and give as a position in the society of cities that would be worthy of pride. The temperance people of the city ought to awake to a sense of their duty and give us a clean, "no" license vote to begin the city's history with.

THE SPEAKERSHIP.

Speaker Hayes has failed of a re-nomination and Hon. T. C. Bates of Worcester has been elected. At the question of the speakership of the Massachusetts House assembly particularly interesting proposals. We should like to see it fall into the hands of Wm. E. Barrett, Esq., of Melrose. Mr. Barrett is editor and publisher of the Boston Daily Advertiser and Boston Herald. His course in last year's House was dignified, consistent and always on the right side. The Representatives will not make mistake in his election.—Cape Ann Bee.

Well informed gentlemen say that in the race for the Speakership Mr. Barrett is a long way ahead of the foremost of his competitors. As an editor, a legislator, and a citizen, he commands the confidence and esteem of the people of the State, and his election to the Speaker's chair would, we have reason to believe, give general satisfaction.

WARD 5.

It would please the JOURNAL a good deal to see Hon. B. F. Whittemore elected an Alderman to represent the 5th Ward in the new city government. We do not know of a man in Woburn better qualified to fill a seat at the Aldermanic Board than he is. His presence would add dignity and character to it, and he would look sharply after the interests of the city.

The Republicans have shown their appreciation of Mr. Whittemore's fitness for the honorable post by giving him a unanimous nomination and we trust the level-headed Democrats of Montvale, Button End, etc., will heartily join hands with them and elect him by a handsome majority.

CHAIRMAN KENNEY.

Mr. William C. Kenney, Chairman of the Board of Selectmen, has been nominated for Alderman in Ward 3 by both the Republican and Democratic parties. The course makes his election almost unanimously. Had not Mr. Kenney been popular with all parties and also been deemed well fitted for the place he would not have received the nomination.

—The Republicans of Ward 2 will hold a caucus tomorrow evening at Republican headquarters, No. 434 Main street, to nominate a candidate for Alderman in place of Mr. Cottle, declined.

—At the drill in the rink on last Thursday evening the talk of partially, etc., was made. Several members were arrested, but it should be stated in justice to the men and the people, that it was entirely false. The men were put off according to demerits and in their society some of the finest dramatic talent in Woburn and that they will give a first class entertainment goes without saying.

—The St. Charles C. T. A. Society have organized for a minstrel entertainment to be given on two nights, March 15 and 16, 1889, in Lyceum Hall. Dennis D. Begley is manager and James H. Murphy, secretary of the organization. The St. Charles have in their society some of the finest dramatic talent in Woburn and that they will give a first class entertainment goes without saying.

—Last Saturday morning the unusually large number of 8 persons lay dead and waiting burial in this city. A great faith of the city is good—better than that of most of our neighbors—and it only just happened so. The people were Mr. Daniel Kimball, Miss Ruth Maria Leathe, Mr. Henry Hawkins, Miss Nellie Hayward, Mrs. George Winn, Mrs. Hobbs of Winn Park, F. W. Wells—Blacksmith, and an infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Atwood.

—The numerous warm friends of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Bates propose to celebrate the Golden Wedding of the venerable pair at their residence in Winchester Park on the evening of Monday, Dec. 10, next. As the friends are to be found in large numbers both in Woburn and Winchester it is fair to presume that the great change of ladies and gentlemen will be present at the 50th anniversary wedding ceremonies of Mr. and Mrs. Bates.

—City Engineer Hartshorn might take in quite a number of money by making a fishing map of Woburn—not an atlas with a section of the city on each page but a map. There is a brisk demand for a good fishing map of Woburn. We have a map of Woburn published by Mr. John R. Carter, Civil Engineer, some years ago, which would not take a farm in Argyle, for instance, but as a pocket in a shirt and would be of use to many a fisherman. It is just as handy as a pocket in a shirt and would be of use to many a fisherman. It is just as handy as a pocket in a shirt and would be of use to many a fisherman.

—Miss Emma F. Mann, 25 Franklin street, is doing some very fine portrait work in crayon, pastel, ink, etc., for the execution of which in artistic style she has received a thorough education. She is a fine artist, and enjoys a good patronage. A portrait of Mr. Woburn, done in crayon, is on exhibition in a window of Fred Locke's drugstore, which attracts much attention. It is a very nice piece of work, and the likeness is said to be perfect.

—The fine residence property lately owned and occupied by Mr. John D. Gilman, now of Boston Highlands, is to be cut up and laid out in house lots by the present owners, Luby and Taylor. Mr. J. M. Ellis is now building a 40-foot street through the property from Montvale Avenue to Eastern Avenue which will provide about 20 excellent house lots. The property is in the public at low figures. The proprietors will build some fine cottages on the property very next season.

—Mr. Thomas Salmon is the Democratic nominee for Ward 1 but the temperance element in it is against him, and there are some clean, intelligent young men coming rapidly to the front who will share him of his power ere long. The St. Charles C. T. A. Society, strong footing in Ward 1, and where they flourish principles like those entertained by a majority of the Democrats of Woburn have a good show for it. The influx of those young men is not only felt now but good, but it shows more strength at each successive election. The temperance boys are all right.

—Flanders & Co., proprietors of the Flanders Pharmacy on Main street opposite the Common, have set out the first installment of their Holiday Gift Goods, and it is a beauty. Both of the large front windows of the pleasant store are rendered lovely and attractive by as handsome a display of rich velvet goods, crystals in modern styles, decanters for essences and delicious perfumes, beautiful workboxes, medallions in parian marble, plaques, handsome leather goods, etc., as can be found here or anywhere else. People spend much time standing before the windows and admiring Flanders's Holiday stock.

—Mr. George Wyer, father of Capt. E. F. Wyer of Vassar street, was 92 years of age on Oct. 30 last, and is doubtless the oldest person in Woburn. He is remarkably well preserved. There are some men of 75 years of age who are not so well preserved as Mr. Wyer. He is a native of Woburn and has lived here all his life. He is a very good man and a very good citizen. He is a very good man and a very good citizen. He is a very good man and a very good citizen.

—The Republican convention for the purpose of choosing a ticket for Mayor, was held in their Rooms last Tuesday evening with 32 delegates present. The meeting was called to order by Fred J. Brown and Joseph G. Pollard was chosen President of the convention and John C. Buck Secretary. A committee of three, Griffin Place, F. H. Lewis and Benjamin H. Kenney, were appointed to draw up resolutions for the convention to proceed to an informal ballot. Benjamin F. Kenney, S. B. Goddard, and Frank Flint were appointed as a committee to receive sort and count ballots. A duty they satisfactorily performed and announced the following result.

Blank, 1
E. D. Hayden, 1
E. C. Cottle, 1
John Cummings, 8
J. Johnson, 21

The vote was made unanimous. Mr. John Cummings was elected Mayor. Mr. John Cummings was elected Mayor. Mr. John Cummings was elected Mayor. Mr. John Cummings was elected Mayor. Mr. John Cummings was elected Mayor.

A great crowd of gentlemen assembled in the pool room of Roney & White last night for the purpose of electing a Mayor. Roney pay an election bet by saving 100 cents of cordwood in two weeks of 90 minutes. Excitement ran high. The affair had been the talk of the town for some time. There was a time-keeper, and everything was in the height of fashion. At a given signal Mr. Roney, Wm. E. Barrett, and a cuticle from waistband up, let himself loose and would you believe it? In less than half the time every stick of pile of wood was sawed and the hero of the affair was receiving the hot congratulations of his numerous good friends of Woburn, Boston and other cities. It was great fun, and if any man thinks Mr. David Roney can't knock the socks from the best of them at sawing cords into stove lengths all we're to say is, he don't know what he's talking about.

It is rumored that the Democratic City Committee will make no nomination of Mayor this evening, but that they will report the matter to the Board of Selectmen for the polls next Tuesday morning. As though there might be truth in this rumor, it is evident that the Democratic Committee are in a very awkward position. They are afraid to go ahead and nominate. The City Committee have belonged to Mr. Salmon from the start. He could have been nominated at their first meeting if he had wanted to, or at the second meeting, or tonight, or any other time. But they are all afraid. Mr. Salmon would have to contend with a strong opposition in his own party if nominated and doubtless would fail of an election. There is more than one powerful combination in his party who would oppose him to the bitter end and probably defeat him. The Committee have aroused a strong opposition by assuming the right to nominate candidates for Mayor and School Board. It is claimed to be unprecedented and illegal, and the action of the Committee has caused a serious feeling among the Democrats. It looks very much as though, taking all things together—their rows and missteps—the Democratic leaders had become thoroughly disheartened and had begun to doubt the election to the Republicans this time and try to do better by themselves next.

They've done it—Thomas Salmon is the man for Mr. Johnson to beat.

TO BUY BOOTS AND SHOES

Pray where shall I go?
Ah! that is the knowledge we wish to bestow,
At LEATHES buy your Shoes for winter weather,
He has them all made from solid leather.
His Ladies' Kid and Goat Boots are a perfect fit,
You can put them on tight and they won't hurt a bit;
Children's School Shoes, bless your soul, I'm afraid
He is selling them cheaper than they can be made.
Rubber goods to follow in the same train
Are the only sure things to keep out the rain.
He has almost everything in style and plan,
From a small child's shoe to an eleven Brogan.
On REPAIRING he can beat every cobbler in the place,
He makes them all put on a wry face;
He can put you on a good tap and heel,
At prices so low you never will feel.
I lead, let them follow who can.
My success, HONEST GOODS and one price plan.
Please remember, 425 Main is the street,
Buy your Shoes there and you'll never get beat.

WINCHESTER.

The Calumet Club will not move this winter. So report has it.
A fine dwelling will be built on the West Side by Mr. Josiah Bridge next spring.
Everybody is glad to know that Mr. John Ayer's physical condition is improving right along.

There's going to be a singing school at Rev. Joshua Côté's house this winter. Faw, sol, law.

Mr. John Gregory is going to leave here and pitch his tent in Boston—somewhere at the South End.

The Fortnightly Club has started in this fall with prospects more flattering than ever. It is one of our best.

The sure prospect now is that more residences will be erected in Winchester next season than in any former one.

Rev. Dr. Gould will preach at the Congregational church, Winchester, next Sunday, Dec. 9, and also on Dec. 16.

Our townsman, Walter Safford, has gone to Washington on an official errand. He is Clerk of the Civil Service Commission.

The White block is a neat and substantial one and a credit to the business architecture of this village. It will soon be ready for occupancy.

Thanksgiving Day was quite generally observed by the good people of this place. About the usual quantity of good eating was disposed of, and people seemed to be happy.

The City Election.

Last Tuesday Woburn held its first election under a city charter and it was a satisfactory one to the friends of good local government. The full vote was fairly good sized but not quite so large as the novelty of the occasion would seem to have justified. Casting the ballots in 7 precincts instead of at one general hall, as under the old Town Meeting order of things, was found to be a great improvement which was generally acknowledged.

The voters of the old town never did a better day's work in their lives. From the condition which matters had assumed it was greatly feared that an unworthy candidate would be elected, but the magnificent outcome of the poll demonstrated that the clean people of Woburn could be depended on in a case of emergency and that the fear of the wrong man getting there was groundless. Democratic Bossism in Woburn got its death blow last Tuesday and Young Democracy dealt it. Mr. Thomas Salmon will never again carry the Democratic party around in his waistcoat pocket. Many a good, sober-sided old Irishman voted against him last Tuesday for the first time. They had stood his tyranny just as long as they could, and in the shot of it was that 2,000 Democrats voted to defeat him and thus they elected Mr. Johnson, the Republican candidate, by 207 majority.

In Mr. Edward F. Johnson the Republicans had a strong candidate. He is equal in every respect necessary to success at the polls and a good administration could not be found in the party. His triumph over the old Democratic Wheelhorse with his pile of money was a great achievement and a brilliant feat in his cap. He carried every victory ever won at an election in this place. Johnson's popularity and public confidence in him and Salmon's weakness, tyranny and distrust of regard for public interests, did the business and did it well.

The City Council, too, is Republican, thanks to hard work and help of honest, conscientious Democrats—many of them foreign born. The Republicans are a majority in the Common Council and on joint ballot, and the members of both branches who belong to the other party, with a single exception, able, honest, frugal, men and highly esteemed citizens. With one or two poor sticks the entire city government is in the hands of our educational institutions are perfectly safe. The following is the vote in detail:

STELLA'S ENGAGEMENT.

"It's too bad!"
Pretty Mrs. March, sitting on the edge of the bed in her handsomely-furnished room, gave vent to the warmth of her supposed feelings in this time-honored declaration of disposed people. She said with an excited, almost hysterical, and with tears in her big, black eyes.

"What's too bad, Philip March de- manded, striding in from the hall, with his hat in his hand and overcoat on his arm."

"Well, what's the matter with her?" said her husband, putting a sympathetic arm about her.

"They had been married only four years, and he was still guilty of an occasional act of the sort."

"Look at that!" was the tragic re- sponse.

Mrs. March's finger touched, with shuddering repulsion, the photograph of a gentleman.

It was a gentleman of apparent middle age, with an astonishingly broad face, above which a forest of hair stood in perpendicular stiffness.

"What's the matter with her?" said her husband, putting a sympathetic arm about her.

"Well, what's the matter with her?" said her husband, putting a sympathetic arm about her.

Why You Feel

So weak and exhausted is because your blood is impure. As well expect the sanitary condition of a city to be perfect with polluted water and defective sewerage, as to expect such a complicated system of human life to be perfect with impure blood.

It is the blood that makes the human frame to be in good order with impure blood circulating even to its minutest veins. Do you know that every drop of your two or three gallons of blood passes through the heart and lungs in about two and a half minutes, and then comes back to the heart again, being on its way, it makes bone and muscle, brain and nerve, and all other solids and fluids of the body? The blood is the great nourisher, or, as the Bible terms it,

"The Life of the Body."

Is it any wonder, then, that if the blood is not pure and perfect in its constituents, you suffer so many indescribable ailments?

Ayer's Sarsaparilla stands "head and shoulders" above every other Alternative and Blood Medicine. As proof, read these reliable testimonies:

"G. C. Brock, of Lowell, Mass., says: 'For the past 25 years I have used Ayer's Sarsaparilla. In my opinion, the best remedial agent for the system of all the diseases arising from impurities of the blood are contained in this medicine.'"

"Eugene I. Hill, M. D., of St. Paul, Minn., says: 'As a blood-purifier and general blood-cleanser, the system has never found anything to equal Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It gives perfect satisfaction.'"

Ayer's Sarsaparilla proves equally efficacious in all forms of Scrofula, Boils, Carbuncles, Eczema, Humors, Lumbago, Catarrh, &c., and is, therefore, the very best.

Spring and Family Medicine

"It beats all," says Mr. Cutler, of Cutler Brothers & Co., Boston, "how

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

does sell." Prepared by

Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Price $1.00, six bottles, $5.00. Sold by all druggists.

A Reasonable Demand—She! No! Mr. Harding, it can never be. But I will always be a sister. (He rising.) Oh, that's the deal. Is it? Well, then, sister, if you've got your thumb nail I wish you would sew up the knees of my trousers that I have sacrificed in finding out our relationship.

Woman's Column.

Miss Lois M. Boyce, the little school-teaching heroine of the Western blizzard, has received the pair of artificial teeth, which, reaching her, she has already given to the needy and the poor. She writes, "They fit so far admirably, and I walk very well with them. I walked to the carriage this afternoon just by taking hold of father's arm."

The ladies of the French nobility who lately interested themselves in the shop girls, and succeeded in having sales provided for them in many large establishments, have now petitioned for a Sunday holiday for the whole staff. They ask that any purchases made on Saturday after the cars have started shall be delivered Monday, instead of on Sunday morning, as at present.

The Comptess of Portsmouth, in a recent address on Women's Work in Politics, said: Women who take a public part in politics must be not only women of courage and ability, but also of a certain degree of conscience and of a certain degree of self-reliance. They must be able to stand up to the accusation of women to the field of politics, and be the company of men, and the doctrine preached be pure and well proven. As women, we cannot be too greatly impressed with the fact that it is as unparliamentary in one of us as we hold it to be in any man to espouse a cause lightly, or to do it recklessly, or to abandon it treacherously.

In India a reform movement against the brutal custom of infant marriages has developed in an unexpected quarter. All the Rajput States except one have agreed to a provision in their laws forbidding marriages for boys to eighteen and for girls to fourteen. This will put the marriage relationship more under the control of the parties most interested, and will put an end to the wretchedness of infant widowhood. The reformers have also instituted an important reform in regard to the expenses of marriages. Heretofore the expense of a marriage has been the ruin of many a family. These reforms are being carried out by the influence of Colonel Walker, the agent of the British Government in Rajpootana.

In Cuba a woman never loses her maiden name. After marriage she adds her husband's name to her own. In being spoken of, she is always called by her Christian and maiden names. To a stranger it is often quite a task to find out whose wife a woman is. Never hearing the wife called by the husband's name, one naturally supposes that the two are not together. The children take the name of both parents, but place the mother's name after the father's.

Literary Notices.

THE NEW MOON, published by a company of the same name, is one of the most good literary for $1. of any magazine anywhere. How it can be afforded at that low price is a mystery to us. It is neat in appearance, well edited, and worth a good deal more than the publisher's charge for it.

How Paris Enjoys Herself.

Every inch of open ground in Paris is available, and the most perfect has been found for the use of the aristocratic chairs, which may be had for two or three sous an hour. The beautiful Bois de Boulogne, rapidly recovering from the destruction and desolation of the last days of the Communal war, has its grounds scattered in the shade of thick trees over all the 2,700 acres, while a constant stream of carriages, and the roads and of bicyclists wherever they are allowed, pours through all day long, though notably larger and more brilliant in the afternoon. Here, as everywhere else, every possible provision is made for enjoyment. The cafes play ingeniously to make the most of the plot of ground at side or front, and the little gardens are given its name to the cafe. Syria or Suristan is thought to be derived from the name of a beautiful and delicate species of rose, the Syria, which grows in the gardens of the Bois de Boulogne. The rose has long been supposed to be indigenous to oriental countries. "Born in the east, it has been diffused like the sunlight all over the world." Even the garden of the master Xanthus that "the earth is a stepmother to those plants incorporated into her soil, but a mother to those which are born of her own produce."

Where the wild rose flourishes, there all other roses will grow. And the wild rose, in spite of so much prating to the contrary, seems to be indigenous to all parts of the world, from the tropics to the frigid zone, and from the equatorial to the Arctic regions. It is among the youngest continents of our earth geologically and the roses are the latest immigrants. It had not become rare time with them when man came. The Roseaceae includes, besides roses, most of the hardy fruit trees and plants, the apple, peach, plum, raspberry, strawberry, blackberry, as well as many ornamental shrubs, —Sophie B. Horrick in The Cosmopolitan.

Bravery of Benedict Arnold. Now, as Burgoyne retreated to the British "great redoubt," leaving nearly all his cannon on the field, Gen. Ten Broeck threw 3,000 fresh New York militia into the American advance line. Here the unrestrained ambition of Gen. Arnold showed itself in a series of daring achievements which touch the reader's imagination with admiration. He refused a command in the morning by Gen. Gates, he could no longer keep in the rear. Mounted on a fine, brown horse, he led a brigade of the right wing, then one at the left in impetuous charges on the British position.

"I'll soon put an end to it," he cried, and the soldiers followed him with enthusiasm. Riding up to Col. Lattin, Connecticut regiment, he accented them: "Ah! my old friends from New London and Norwich! Come on, boys; if the day is long enough we will have them all in half an hour!"

While charging over the flat breastworks on the British right Arnold received a wound in the same leg that had been struck in the capture of Fort Mifflin. His horse, he shouted, "Go on, boys!"

"They went on," capturing the key of the English position and killing Col. Brevint. Thumped in the knee, he was, as Burgoyne's, or more properly Burgoyne's, the irony of fate gave Gates, in the rear, the laurels of victory, and desecrated the ground, at the head of the American troops, to an infamous memory. Gates did not even mention Arnold in reporting the battle.—C. H. Crandall in American Magazine.

Cloak on the Instant Plan. "You would be surprised," said one of these enterprising and somewhat grasping merchants the other day, "at the number of people who have decided to buy us. We have sold to dry goods clerks who were working for $1,000 a year."

Wesley, my colored man of all work, possesses in a wonderful degree the ability to understand just what you don't say. One day he was talking to me about a gate and pointing down a walk on either side of which grew some shrubbery, said: "Wesley, I want you to trim the shrubbery on the left hand side of this walk."

"Yes, um." Aware of his aptitude for misunderstanding, and, repeated, "Remember now, Wesley, the left hand side."

"Yes, um." A few hours later he came to say the work was done. I went to the gate and found the shrubbery on the right hand side closely cut while the left remained untouched. "Wesley," I said angrily, "don't you trim the left hand side and not the right?"

"Yes, um." "I begum at ter een up the walk,"—Detroit Free Press.

A New Seaman's Log. Official trial of a new form of log have recently been made on board some of the French torpedo boats. The log is made of bronze, of cylindrical-conical form, and weighs about 5.5 pounds. It is provided with a small propeller at the rear, its center, which is connected by a canvas covered india rubber tube to a pressure gauge on board. When the ship is under way the flow of the water past the log establishes a partial vacuum in the tube and causes the pointer of the pressure gauge to move over its dial.

The gauge is graduated to show the speed of the vessel from four up to twenty-five knots.—Detroit Free Press.

Eriksen, the Noted Inventor. Engineer Eriksen, although 85 years old, is as bracingly youthful as ever. I asked him once to what he attributed his surprising mental and physical juvenility, which enables him still to work on the most intricate problems and to spend many consecutive hours daily perfecting his great solar engine, which stands in his back yard and is the mystery of the neighborhood. His reply was effectual and hard working and plain living conducted on an unvarying system were all the secret. He eats every day precisely the same amount at precisely the same hour, and to this rule there is no exception.—The Epoch.

TROUBLE AT THE TANNERIES.

The strike at Shaw and Co's leather establishment, which occurred last Monday morning, will lead to results seriously harmful to the business interests of this city unless matters are handled with care, caution and wisdom by both sides. The cut-down of wages at the factory of E. Cummings & Co. led to a similar step at Shaw's, with a strong probability of a resort to like measures in all of the 25 or 30 tanneries and currying shops in the city within the next few weeks unless something is done to avert consequences so serious. This can be accomplished only by concessions and the exercise of forbearance and common sense by employers and employees alike.

The history of labor troubles in this country show that strikes, almost invariably, end in disaster to the strikers. In a few instances only, and those of minor importance, have substantial advantages been gained by the laborers by such a course. Redress for wrongs, real or imaginary, has never been secured by any labor organization through the agency of strikes, and the lessons which they so plainly teach ought to be of value to the working people now. A general strike by the employees of the leather manufacturers in this city will not better their condition, but make it infinitely worse than it now is.

How does the case stand here? It is best to look the facts squarely in the face before taking a step that may, and probably will, end in increased hardship and privations at a season of the year when such increase can less easily be borne. The owners of leather factories here are making no money and have been making none for some time. Why do they continue to manufacture then? It is asked. Simply to keep their capital from rusting, to preserve their plants, to give employment to men who need the pay, and to gratify a laudable desire to do business. Hope of future profits, which is not flattering at the present time, induces some to continue to make leather for no adequate pecuniary return, if not at a loss every day they run.

Many of these manufacturers would as soon shut down their factories tomorrow as not, and they certainly do so if the present trouble is not, by concessions and compromise, averted. There are currying shops here that have not split 1000 hides in the last four weeks, and others are entirely idle. The workmen can have them all so if they choose, and they certainly will if the strike becomes general. It is in no spirit of revenge against the laborers for their alleged arrogance and unfairness in times past that a reduction of wages has been determined on. By-gones are by-gones. But the manufacturers say that, with the present prices of leather, slow sales, and an unfavorable future outlook, former wages cannot be paid and their business continue. Therefore, the largest and most liberal concerns affirm that if the demands of the workmen are insisted on their factories must close until the time improve.

On the other hand it is bad for men to have their wages cut down just as winter is about to set in with its extra cost of living and the additional hardships incident to the rigorous season. The JOURNAL wishes to see every man receive his earnings in full measure, and sincerely hopes that an early understanding between the employers and employees may be reached that will be satisfactory and for the best interests of both sides. But under any circumstances would a general strike be wise? Would it be profitable for the laborers to take that course? Would they be any better off to leave the factories than they would to remain there even at a reduction of wages? Isn't half a loaf better than no bread at all? Good common, business sense can give but one kind of an answer to these questions.

Two thousand unemployed men in this community in the dead of winter means a great deal of poverty and suffering. It means scant larders in cold houses, thinly clad children, anxiety, sorrow, and many other ills. All of these may be averted in a great measure if not entirely by the exercise of patience, forbearance and good judgment. Mr. Moreland, who has the best interests of the workmen at heart and has always been their honest, intelligent champion, gave them advice at the mass meeting of the Knights of Labor last Sunday which, if followed, will prevent all trouble between them and their employers and save the sad sight of 2000 idle men on our streets with the train of evils arising from it. He strongly advised against strikes except as a last resort and therein showed himself the workman's true friend.

Here we have given the case in outline. The leather market is such that many manufacturers would welcome a strike to-day as an excuse for shutting down their factories. Even the legiti-mate pride of doing business and the loss of the very small interest on their capital invested which present operations yield would not make others very much averse to shutting up shop too. This need not be however if the workmen will consult their real interests, listen to the suggestions of reason, regard the situation rationally and in its true light, and instead of inaugurating a general strike remain in the factories, accept the wages which their employers can afford to pay, and wait patiently for better times.

In the meantime, considering the great hardship which a reduction of wages must be to the laborer at this inclement season of the year, we hope every manufacturer will pay to each man in his employ the utmost farthing the business will allow.

PRESIDENT OF THE BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

Possibly it has already been settled in caucus as to who is to be made President of the Board of Aldermen, but if so the fact has not been given to the public. The most prominent names mentioned in connection with the honorable position of late are Alderman True, Linscott, Kenney, Ramsdell and Goddard, either of whom would fill the bill with credit to himself and advantage to the city.

The general drift of sentiment, however, so far as the JOURNAL has been able to learn is in favor of Alderman S. B. Goddard of Ward 1. Influential members of the Board, it is said, are desirous of making him the President and will do all that lies in their power to secure his election, which, it is believed by some, will be unanimous on the first regular ballot.

Alderman Goddard would make a good presiding officer. He has all the qualifications necessary for a proper discharge of the duties of the position, and is besides an affable, courteous gentleman, and one who would command the respect and esteem of his associates. If a general expression of opinion and preference is a fair criterion to judge by it is quite safe to say that Mr. Goddard will be President of the Board.

It is reported that the question of who is to be President of the Board of Common Council is as good as settled in favor of Mr. E. E. Thompson.

The Christmas number of the Cambridge Chronicle was the best one received at this office. Nearly all the articles were written by Cambridge authors for the number and the illustrations were prepared especially for it. It was a highly meritorious issue of an excellent newspaper.

Nearly all the business part of Marblehead was destroyed by fire on last Tuesday night inflicting a loss of more than a million dollars. Some 60 manufacturers were burned and also a large number of dwellings, stores, etc. The territory burned over was that similarly visited 10 years ago.

Congress is enjoying its customary holiday vacation. As the Boston Herald says, there is one thing that both parties in both branches can always be relied on for harmoniously agreeing to, and that is to adjourn over the holidays.

There was a terrific fight last Saturday night at Lincoln between "Killarney," a Woburn dog, and "Bess," a Roxbury one, for $50 a side. It was a cruel contest in which "Bess" was terribly mangled, chewed up, and killed by "Killarney."

The Woburn Firemen's Relief Association will give their 33d annual concert and ball at Lyceum Hall on Friday evening January 4. Calnan's Orchestra has been engaged to furnish the music for dancing. A first-class supper will be provided.

The idea of a general Inaugural celebration has been abandoned. Coming so soon after the holidays, during which nearly everybody spent about all the money they had, it was difficult to enthrone the people to a celebration pitch, and so it has been given up.

Day before Christmas Mr. Fred A. Hartwell had hanging up at the entrance to his market a turkey that weighed 29 pounds dressed! It was a monster and made an appropriate sign for the nice Christmas meats, poultry, game, fruits and vegetables inside.

Last year there was no real winter weather here until about the 10th of January, and from that time to this there has not been a day when the weather and date of it fitted worth a cent. It has been one of the most odd, contrived years that we ever read of.

They have built a fine central station here and supplied it with the best of machinery. We hope to see the inauspicious light introduced into residences soon.

The Sunday School entertainment at the Unitarian church on Christmas Eve was a very pretty affair. There was a large Christmas tree, every branch of which was loaded with beautiful presents for the children, the distribution of which gave great pleasure to all. The exhibition of stereoscopic views delighted the masses.

Our esteemed and venerable friend, Mr. Daniel H. Richards, made the JOURNAL sanctum his regular Christmas visit last Monday and left tokens of his good will towards the editor in the shape of valuable and appropriate holiday presents. For which we will please accept this public acknowledgment of our hearty thanks.

Mr. L. Houghton Allen left yesterday for a protracted Western and Southern trip. He goes direct to Chicago and from thence to Milwaukee to visit his son, where he will remain a short time. At St. Louis, to which point he will go by rail, he will take a river steamer for New Orleans.

After a visit and rest Mr. Allen will go to several localities in Texas, then proceed to California, in the southern part of which he intends to remain several weeks. In early spring he will move north to San Francisco, and from that city take his departure for home, which he expects to reach in early summer.

On Thursday night of last week Mr. John R. Maxwell, a son of Mr. John Maxwell, the extensive and well-known leather manufacturer of North Winchester, died at the residence of his brother-in-law, Mr. Thomas J. White, in this city, after an illness of several weeks duration which baffled the skill of the physicians. His business was that of a tanner and currier and he will be missed by this community. A few years ago he went to New York, where he was engaged in business, and Nahmoke Council, 17, degree of Pochontas, R. M., have elected the following named officers: Pochontas, Mrs. Sarah A. Woodside; Winona, Mrs. Jessie Crowell; Powhatan, Orlando J. Although Associate Justice Littlefield of Winchester has ably and impartially upheld the Judicial Ermine at the Fourth District Court for the last 6 months with brief periods of aid from Associate Justice Adams of the same Court it is pleasant to see Judge Converse back on the Bench again administering law and justice to the people of this community. There is a natural look about it which we like.

Dr. Daniel's Star Specialty Company played to good houses at Lyceum Hall on Tuesday and Wednesday afternoon and evening, and the excellence of the entertainments will be pretty sure to attract large audiences on tomorrow afternoon and evening. The company give a great deal of genuine fun and pleasure for comparatively little money, as those who attend the matinee tomorrow and in the evening will find out.

The annual entertainment of Hugh de Payens Commandery of Melrose will be given Wednesday evening, Jan. 30. The number of tickets is limited, and already there is a great demand for them. Delegations are expected to be present from Beausant, De Molay and Winslow Lewis Commanderies. A musical and literary entertainment will be given early in the evening, followed by a banquet and ball.

It is going to be a hard winter. How do we know? Wat Brown has not donned a coat yet this fall, and that arm is still exposed to all the rigors of the season day and night, that one rolled-up shirt-sleeve having, so far, refused to budge an inch below the shoulder where it has been all summer, which indicates that genuine winter will be here before long.

Dr. March said in one of his lectures that the particular thing which he saw during his late visit to India that reminded him most strongly of home was canned "Boston Baked Beans." American wheelbarrows were in general use in China and Japan, and American manufactures of all kinds were seen by Doctor in every part of the East in which he traveled. He thinks the railroad is destined to be the great civilizer, educator, social leveler, and destroyer of caste in those countries.

Somewhere, or bodies, well acquainted with the field of operation is doing quite a stroke of work at burglariously breaking and entering, although so far they have not reaped much of a reward for their labor and pains. They broke into the First Congregational church last week and all they took were a few plated knives and forks. At Dickinson's market, which they entered at about the same time, they got a little money from the till. On Sunday he or they raided the grocery of Thomas Salmon and got a small amount of change, but at Matthews' barber shop, which they entered with burglarious intent, their reward was very meagre. The police have no doubt, but that the work is done by home people.

We clip the following item from "The Bulletin of Atlanta, (Ga.) University" for the month of December. The Miss Richardson mentioned is the daughter of Mr. James C. Richardson of Fairmount street: The University Library is being classified and catalogued according to the Dewey system. Miss M. A. Richardson, a member of the Columbia School of Library Science of Library Economy, is in charge of the work. When the work is finished, which will not be for a year or so, the library will be the only one in all the south classified according to the Dewey system. It contains about 7,000 volumes admirably selected and attractively displayed in a spacious ground-floor room in Stone Hall. Mr. R. R. Graves of New York founded and endowed the Library.

A very swell Leap Year Party was given at Music Hall Wednesday at which a large number of Woburn's high-toned young gentlemen were rendered supremely happy. The music was the best money could buy. The toilets of the ladies were elegant, while the costumes of the gentlemen were all that the most exacting in matter of style could demand, including claw-hammers and cravats. Everything was in a mode, high art, very fashionable. Mr. S. B. Goddard, a graceful matron and leader in polite society here, was floor manager, while Mrs. H. B. Clewley, Miss Edith F. Davis, Miss Lizzie B. Dodge and Miss Marguerite Falk were the head committees of arrangements. The gentlemen were taken to the hall in hacks and tenderly cared for until late in the evening. Everything passed off splendidly, and for tone it was away up in the pictures.

Not for any moment ought any person to harbor the thought that all the beautiful holiday goods that the merchants fetched to this city before Christmas were sold on that day. Such an idea could not well be farther from the truth. Why, one has only to leisurely walk up and down Main street this evening to be fully convinced of the error of such a notion. He will be sure to see beautiful goods for New Year presents galore in all the attractive arranged show windows on the street. Everything is right there and in as wonderful abundance as though there had been no Christmas to deplete the piles. Go along that thoroughfare this evening, please, and if you are not surprised our head is at your service for a full and complete explanation of the prices of all those fine things are away down below zero—anti-Christmas prices, and everybody knows what that means.

On Thursday night of last week Mr. John R. Maxwell, a son of Mr. John Maxwell, the extensive and well-known leather manufacturer of North Winchester, died at the residence of his brother-in-law, Mr. Thomas J. White, in this city, after an illness of several weeks duration which baffled the skill of the physicians. His business was that of a tanner and currier and he will be missed by this community. A few years ago he went to New York, where he was engaged in business, and upon returning to Woburn in the winter of 1886, engaged in the leather business in the Pollard factory. A year later he took the Blake factory, where he continued until last May and then he was interested in the laundry business in Malden. He was stricken down about seven weeks ago with a complication of diseases. There survives him his parents, wife and child, and several sisters and brothers. He was a member of Crystal Fount Lodge, No. 9, I. O. O. F.

An enterprising Woburn reporter of a great Boston daily (in consideration of the feelings of the family, who are very respectable people, we refrain from mentioning his name) a Woburn reporter, etc., has made the wonderful discovery that Mr. Bernard Matthews' barber-shop was not burglarized, as the Boston dailies last week said it was, and came to look into it a little more carefully the enterprising reporter above alluded to is not entirely clear in his own mind whether Mr. Salmon's store was burglarized or not, and if it was it was only one of those 2-for-a-cent affairs that don't amount to anything anyway. From the style of the language used by said enterprising reporter abroad in making this important announcement (thereby relieving this community, especially the elderly ladies of both sexes, of the great error of being themselves burglarized) we judge some policemen live not far about here, and that there is to occur a reorganization of the force or something of that sort within the next 15 or 20 days. Eh?

Our Board of Trade is about to take in hand Supt. Furber of the B. & M. Railroad for misfeasance in office, to wit, for ordering, the 8:20 a. m. train in to stop at Winchester. That is purely a Woburn train—the only one of the 29 that runs to Boston daily without a stop. It was put on and arranged for the sole accommodation of the 100 or more Woburn patrons of the road who go to the city at that time of the day, and naturally they are bitterly opposed to its stopping at Winchester. They will protest against it, and it will be wise in Mr. Furber to heed the protest. Winchester does not need the train but they are jealous of Woburn and are determined that Woburn shall have no exclusive privileges—no accommodations that are not permitted to share. Woburn pays dollars to the Company while Winchester pays cents, and if the whims, jealousies and crochets of the people of the latter town are to be allowed to interfere with the rights and privileges of the former, then our Board of Trade, backed by this whole community, will know the reason why.

Mortgagee's Sale of Real Estate.

By virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed, given by Alpha E. Thompson, of Woburn, in the County of Middlesex and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, to The Woburn Five Cents Savings Bank, dated April 26, 1887, and recorded with Middlesex (So. Dist.) Deeds, Book 1292, Page 297, which mortgage has been assigned to Edward D. Hayden, Trustee for Mabel Winsor, of Woburn, on the north side of Pleasant street, containing ten thousand one hundred and sixty-two square feet, more or less, and bounded as follows, viz:—southerly on Pleasant street, so called, there measuring sixty-three feet; westerly on land of Abby Mead and Mary C. Eager, about one hundred and forty-seven feet; northerly, on a private street, measuring thirty-three feet and easterly, on land of the estate of the late Charles B. Winsor, measuring one hundred and sixty-six feet.

And will be required of the purchaser at the sale: other terms at sale.
